Eleanor's primary interest was baking and she was a master at it. She also enjoyed dancing in her single years. She also enjoyed dancing in her single years. She didn't take time for other interests, but focused on caring for her family and their home.

Mrs. Murphy was my neighbor when she lived in Philadelphia back in the 1990s. She had many skills but food science was her favorite. I loved sitting in her kitchen and hearing her tales of work in the city at Good Housekeeping kitchens. She would share her recipes with me and recommend ways for me to eat healthy, and lose weight. I hope her recipe book survives forever. She loved to talk politics (we were both on the same side!) and was so proud of her granddaughter. At one point, she planted a dismal little bush along side her driveway in a dank spot with poor drainage that NEVER got any sun at all. But somehow the bush survived and still greets the current home's owner each day. It has not grown a single inch over the last decade but it still stands slender and strong despite tough conditions...just like this tough coal- country gal did for many years. I am happy she was once a part of my life. Her family is fortunate to have had her for so many years. Bless you all. Fran O from Ayrdale

My condolences to the family during this difficult time. While it is never easy to lose a loved one in death, please find comfort and hope in God's promise found at Revelation 21:3,4.

I have known Eleanor for the last 4 years. I am the Eucharistic Minister from St Mary's Catholic Church here in Annapolis Md. Eleanor has been one of my most dedicated Catholics attending every Service on Sundays and coming to the Rosary Service on Wednesdays and received communion. She also received communion two other times a week when another minister came to see her. Eleanor could sing all the hymns without looking at the music and she carried her rosary every where she went. For the last few years she has received the Sacrament of the sick almost once a month after attending Mass. It was truly a delight to know someone who was such a strong Catholic. As she aged she experienced some confusion but not when it came to her prayers and attending the rosary and Sunday service. It has been a delight to know Eleanor and to serve her when it came to her faith. She will be very missed during our many services. It was a real honor to provide this service to such a wonderful lady and such a strong Catholic. I know she has gone straight to heaven and is now one of Gods special angles. Pat Holleran

Maryanne, just keeping looking to the hill, knowing where your help cometh from. I didn't know your Mom, but if she was like you then she was a beautiful person. Keep the the faith and the LORD will take care if you and your family. May The LORD riches bless for you all.
