David Gene Stahr

DEC 14, 1950 - MAY 15, 2016

David Gene Stahr, 65, died peacefully at home on May 15, 2016 after a long illness. David was born in Hamilton, Ohio on December 14, 1950 to Bill and Roberta Stahr and was raised in New Lebanon, Ohio. He met the love of his life, Linda Longhini, while they were both undergraduates at Miami University, and they were married in the university chapel shortly after graduation.

After relocating to Maryland, David enjoyed a long career as a special education teacher in Prince George's County, including many years teaching at Laurel High School. David was passionate about baseball and, although he became an avid fan of the Baltimore Orioles, he continued to follow the Cincinnati Reds and hoped that someday Pete Rose would make it into the Baseball Hall of Fame. David loved music, ranging from blues to classical, and attended Sunday matinee concerts of the Baltimore Symphony Orchestra as long as his illness would permit. Other interests included sailing, U.S. history, pirates, and reading, especially Anne Rice and Patrick O'Brian novels.

David's family meant everything to him. His daughters Amanda and Maggie were the center of his world. Amanda's fiancé Bryan became the son he never had. In addition to his wife and children, David is survived by his beloved sister Susan Thompson and her partner Deb Fausnacht, nieces Robin Reidy and Erin Thompson and their families, mother- and father-in-law Fran and Tony Longhini, sister-in-law Cheryl Longhini, brothers-in-law Charlie Chinn, Andy Longhini, David Longhini, Paul Longhini, and Jim Longhini, and their families. David's parents, stepmother Helen Stahr, and sister Dedra Chinn predeceased him.

Dear Linda and Family: I have such fond memories of David. A couple come to mind: I remember vividly the first time Linda and David came to dinner at my house. I was really nervous, (even though it was my house :-)). I just wanted everything to go well. David was just so engaging and he had a great way of poking fun at me with a gentle sense of humor, that I stopped worrying about dinner and just relaxed. In fact, I was so relaxed that I even agreed to play my piano for you both - something I rarely do. I remember all of us spending more than one occasion at the Maryland Renaissance Festival. I remember David loving the history of it all, in addition to the sometimes wacky costumes. On one of our trips to the Festival, Linda and I agreed to be pilloried (apologies to the women's movement). David got a big kick out of that. How he managed to escape the pillory, I don't understand to this day! He was definitely one of the good ones, and the world is not quite as bright for want of his presence. Our deepest sympathies go out to your family. We will miss Dave very much. We enjoyed the many years we raced against him when he sailed on Stingray. A lasting memory will be looking over at him in the heat of battle with our two sailboats and seeing him smiling, enjoying every moment of being out on the water. He was just as much fun at the parties afterward! We will miss Dave as a neighbor as well, always supporting good causes in Pines on the Severn. Chuck, Ann and Ethan O'Malley

Where to begin? There are so many great memories of David, baseball games at Memorial stadium, opening day 1979 was so cold and windy we bought hot chocolate and put our freezing fingers into the cups to keep warm, Jim Palmer on the mound and the O's won. Sailing on the Severn, David taught me all I know about sailing. David and Linda's excellent choices of books for my birthday's, treating me to a hockey game for another birthday, the Caps won. Some of my favorite memories were the small ones, dinners at the Stahr's, playing board games at the dining room table, watching ballgames with the sound off while we listened to music (David would say, "Irwin, pick something to play", and then he would say, "great choice"! It has been more than forty-two years since I met David and Linda, two of the best friends I have ever had, I will miss him with all my heart, but will remember all the wonderful moments we spent together. A truer friend one could not wish for.

One of my fondest memories of David is spending a liesurely afternoon sitting at a table, picking Maryland Blue Crabs, drinking beer, and just hanging out. It was always a good time. Conversation was easy, and we all always left the table feeling nourished by both food and friendship.I also very much appreciate that David was an avid Alice's Restaurant groupie. We always knew that we, he, Linda, and me, belonged on the "Group W Bench." I am sure he is saving me a seat, and I will join him on the bench one day. I will keep The Massacre tradition alive until then.
