Saying goodbye today was harder than I could have ever imagined. Brittney always had such kind, loving, and passionate spirit. Someone who always showed me the bright side to life with her uplift. I have always envied and admired her in so many ways. She really leaves us with alot to live up to because its hard to match such beauty as a person inside and out. I see so much of Brittney in little Ava. I know how important family is to Brittney and i am so honored to be able to call her my family. The greatest honor yet is in sharing our name..... BNH♥

I have no words to ease this painful loss for your loved ones! I am in shock that God would take such a young beautiful soul. As humans we can only see and know what is in front of us. It seems that you are still needed here for your family, friends, and the future dreams you had. But as Christians we know God knows all things even that which is unknown or seen by us. My heart is broken for all that was left behind! But I know the plans God has are the best and while finding peace may not be quick or easy for those left behind. I will be praying for everyone whose heart and life you have touched! May peace beyond understanding settle in the hearts and minds of all. 🙏🙏

Carole Farrell Brittney I didn't know you but I did know your Mom since she was a little girl so I know that she loves you very much and you will always be in her heart and in the hearts of others who knows you. God has you in his hands now. I am so sorry for your families loss.

I remember when Brittney was born in a flurry of activity. Sherry thought that Julie was trying to get out of doing homework and she actually was in labor! When Brittney finally arrived on Earth, we all loved her that very second. She grew in the loving embrace of a devoted and loving family and became a kind and amazing young woman. Then, Ava arrived on Earth and we all loved her that very second. An extension of her mother with a spark all her own. I feel blessed to have known Brittney and to have her in our family for the short time she was here. But, I feel comforted that she is with all the great-grandparents, aunts, uncles and cousins who have Brittney in a warm and wonderful place. The rest of us, here on Earth, will have her forever in our hearts.

My Sister , My Soumate, My Best Friend. Everyday I beg God to wake me up from this cruel dark nightmare. My world is shattered, My heart is broken into pieces & I will never be the same without you. We shared the most deepest of secrets & the most promised of promises. I'm going to miss your late night text telling me how much I mean to you. Your quick early morning calls just to say you love me. Your warm huge hugs & gentle kisses on my cheek. You were my everything, as I was yours. I'm so blessed you were able to lean on me through this journey called life. You always told me you never knew how I could stay so strong, but the truth is how strong am I really without you by my side ? Twenty four years of memories that nobody can ever take. I promise I'll always tell Ava how proud you are of her & how much you love her. Please know even though your physically gone your soft loving caring spirit will live through your loved ones forever. I know your the prettiest angel in the sky. Please watch over all of us in spirit & I'll watch over all of us physically in the mean time. I love you more than I'll ever be able to put into words. I love you my sweetest angel May You Rest In Peace
xoxo ❤️🙏

Dearest Brittney, How do I say goodbye? I shall forever remember your special laughter, wit kindness and thoughtfulness. Continuing to live life without you will be sad. You have given such joy. Your biggest gift to us of course is Ava. She, like you has laughter, wit, intelligence and a personality to take her to her highest dreams. A most precious gift for sure. I will love you always and keep you in my heart. I will miss you deeply.

My heart was having a really hard time accepting that you had passed. It now finally seems real and I still dont want to believe it. You were so young with so much love in your heart that this just seems so unfair. You were the first person I met in Petsmart back in 2008 (you even trained me... well kind of lol). Then you left to have and raise your beautiful daughter Ava. You came back a couple years later and it was like you never left. We hung out all the time and became really close friends. You had your demons (everyone does) but your spirit was always sweet and kind no matter what. I've thought about you often and im so sad i didnt get to talk to you recently. I love you and may your soul rest in peace. My heart and prayers go out to mommom, pop pop, Ava and her mom. Rest easy Britt. I'll miss you forever ❤️
