From Raj Karim (Subhan's sister)Remembering Danny ...with love and respectDanny you have been a loving husband, caring companion and a soul mate for my sister Subhan. Bless you for that.As a family we watched how a marriage between a Cosa Rican and a Malaysian would turn out to be and Danny has been a wonderful life companion for my sister. Subhan chose the best companion to share her life with.Over the 26 years of your marriage we have seen you vigilant over all my sister's needs.When I went to your home in the deep winter of 1994 in New Jersey, you were busy clearing the snow, ensuring the safety of Subhan's car, and making sure she had extra gasoline, food and water.You had the gift of treating everyone special and making them comfortable. You made a makeshift room for me when I was recuperating from a fracture. You built a pavement when you saw I had difficulty walking over wet grounds in your home in Maryland.I am eternally grateful to you for your kind deeds. Bless you.We cherish the happy moments with you in Kuala Lumpur...you were always chatty, friendly and funny! We loved your personalised photo albums after each visit.Danny, we thank The Almighty for bringing you into our lives.I treasure your handmade crafted wooden bowls and the tea box you gave me this time a year ago.May The Almighty bless you and keep you among His loved ones. AmeenKader and I and family will always remember you with love and respect as you rest in your final abode peacefully.We will miss youWith love, Raj

From Abdul Wahid Karim (Subhan's brother)Dear Danny,You were both a brother-in-law and a dear friend to me, my wife Katrina and my daughter Arianne. We will cherish forever the good times and memories we shared both in Malaysia and the U.S. when we came to visit you and Subhan. We had fun times and laughter, and loved the many stories you told. Danny, you left behind a legacy of beautiful photos with us that rekindle those memories, and that will never fade away. The beautiful cutting board you hand crafted with love with our names engraved is now a heirloom to be passed on to my daughter and God willing, her children, and we will all say with pride that Danny made this.We will all miss you, and words cannot say enough, the love and tender care you brought into our lives.Thank you for being the best companion and husband for my sister for more than 25 years. It's a long time Danny, maybe not long enough, but that is God's calling.Danny, may you rest in eternal peace and God Bless You, my dear friend.

In Memory
Dear Danny
We spoke at length energized by our common interest. You came to my small home and I was shy to show you my backyard. I will always appreciate and remember the tool tips and advise that carries me on as a passionate hobby. We both were crazy about CNCs and I have lost my one and only sparring partner. I will treasure the tool magazines u sent me and keep it as a reminder of u. You took great care of my Aunt Subhan and gave her companionship. May you rest now and return to your Lord, waiting for the day to enter the everlasting garden and abode of peace. May the angels escort you and may the prophets of old be your guides. Love, Shahzad

Subhan and I met at Sterling a couple of decades ago but then we lost touch for quite a while. When we reconnected, she had Danny by her side. He was super friendly and had a camera on his shoulder. We were fortunate to be invited to their home in Maryland and when we got there we were made to feel very welcomed. Danny is a gentle soul and I'm happy that he was by Subhan's side. They took very good care of each other and it was a pleasure for me to see a couple so gentle and caring. Before we left their home, Danny would gift us with some of his wooden creations he loved making with so much love and labor. He was so proud of the beautiful bread box he made for Subhan and rightly so! We always joked that we would create a website to sell his creations. After each visit, we would be gifted with lots of photos compliments of photographer Danny!! recalled on one such visit, we were delayed in arriving at their home and Subhan gave us the door code and we expected to go in the guest house and see them in the morning but as soon as we drove up, they both popped out of the garage to usher us in. Danny's story was that Subhan couldn't sleep so he couldn't sleep either. That is true partnership! Danny is generous, kind, super friendly, and warm. Heaven has welcomed home one of God's finest creations but he will be missed here on earth. Rest in peace, Danny Ava

My mother was lucky enough to befriend Subhan ages ago! Before I was a thought, and before Danny met Subhan. I had no business knowing either of them, they were friends of my mom, but I was always welcomed to the table and to their home. On one of our most recent visits, Danny was showing off his woodworking. Just as I was admiring a lovely Christmas Tree shaped platter he had created, he handed me another one to take home. Now that this piece has been added to our holiday decorations, every Christmas we'll have a reminder of Danny, his craftsmanship, his generosity, but more importantly his friendship. Danny has a permanent place in our home and in our hearts.

I met Danny through my friend, Subhan. Subhan and I had lost touch with each other for quite a bit of time but then we reconnected with Danny by her side. We met several times in New York City before my daughter and I visited them in Maryland and we felt so very welcomed and cared for every single visit. When we are about to leave, Danny always made sure to gift us with some of the wooden crafts he loved creating. On our third visit, we were delayed and arrived very late but as soon as we pulled up to their home, they both popped out of their garage to usher us in. Danny said Subhan couldn't sleep and that he couldn't sleep if she couldn't sleep...what a great partnership!!'m so very glad that Subhan had Danny by her side and I know she took very good care of him and he never once was shy about telling us how important she was to him. He was a gentle person and we will miss him dearly. I feel privileged to have known Danny - a kind, warm, loving, and generous soul. Heaven has welcomed home one of God's special creations! Rest in peace, Danny.Ava

Danny Campos – A Reflection
In the early 90's, I worked as an executive secretary in the Treasurer's Department of Exxon Company, International. There I met a lovely Malaysian expatriate named Subhan. She was young and single, and in a short time, met a young, suave Latino named Danny. Well, the relationship grew, but Exxon policy intervened; and Subhan had to return to her native country... leaving Danny behind. Danny did not give up! He came to my office almost daily with gifts that he asked me to send to her via our intercompany mail. Soon enough, Subhan left her Exxon position in Malaysia and returned to NJ. Within months, Danny and she were married, and I had the honor of presiding as her Matron of Honor. My husband and I have been friends with this wonderful couple over the years. They attended our two sons' weddings, travelling from Texas. Danny gave my older son a job while he was in high school. He was a true friend, who drove from Maryland to NJ two years ago to present me with a handmade wooden tray that he built just for us. We'll miss him. He fought the good fight, but God won. Rest in peace, Danny; you are in our prayers. Joyce Lyasko
