My sister friend I remember traveling with her as a young child around 11, 12 yrs. Old and staying with her at Ocean City while singing and doing musical plays in different nightclubs in Ocean City and in Vegas. She was very popular back in the day in her younger years as far as her professional singing and appearances. After a while the night club scene got old and her later years and mom cat telling her get out of the club scene and turn to Christ and follow him so after a while she did and then started singing Christian gospel music here and there in different churches, especially the churches that had good choir and orchestra back ups she could crack the walls with her powerful voice. She trained and trained as we were kids at mom's house singing most every day practicing. She was a little bit of a hardheaded a talion but meant well with good advice. Rest in peace in heaven love you Michael Cousin Frannie was a light in a room whenever she was at a family event. Gifted with a great voice and a mischievous grin, she could disarm you in a minute. I always was a bit starstruck around her. May she rest at peace.

I remember Franny when I use to go over Michelle's house when we were in middle and High School. Franny use to sing around the house and was always laughing with all of us. Those were some good memories. May she rest in peace. Sincerely Karen

Michael Mig My sister Fran I remember the days I used to travel with her singing and doing shows in Maryland and in Vegas had a excellent voice and was very popular in her younger days I remember the phone ringing off the hook at my parents house from all different bands or managers calling for audition tryouts and never took crap off of anyone while in the business. She was a hardheaded Italian but meant well. Fran was very protective of me and sometimes too much. I could remember we were both the last two left living at my parents house and was always practicing singing with that powerful loud voice, you could hear her through the walls and the floors all the way down in the basement. My mother would always say it's time you get out of the nightclub business and turn to Christ start going to church so she did after a while of many years singing in the night clubs and then turned to Christian gospel music singing her heart out. We spent a lot of time together as we were the only ones left at home together, I will miss her very much especially her good godly guidance rest in peace in Heaven. Love you Michael

I knew Franny through her sister, Marie. Never really met her but went to see her sing at Holiday Inn on Cromwell Bridge Road. That is a fond memory. I am so sorry for your loss! God bless her for the joy she brought others. Love, Stevie
