Michael and I, have lived so far apart, for so many years, that most of my memories are over 50 years old. Like when he lived in New York City, and would come home on weekends. He looked out for us. Of course, he would also make sure we had a list of chores to do by the next time he got home. Then again, he made a special trip one weekend, just so I could use his Mercury Montego for prom weekend. He was good brother
