“ My fondest memories of Jim go back more than 60 years, to when we were young kids.
I have known him through all his numerous nicknames, Frosty, Jimmy Bruce, Bruce.

But, no matter the name, he was a terrific cousin. Some of my best times with Jim were when he and his family visited Minnesota during the summer and rented a cottage on Green Lake. They shared it with all the cousins and it was great fun...Jim's mom was always trying to gather us together at the picnic table to "teach" us Swedish. The guys would have none of it and resulted in more chaos and on to more fun times. Jim had a ready smile and loved to laugh. We renewed contact when David and I moved to Austin in the mid 70s and were able to see Jim and Elaine in Houston on a regular basis. Remembering Jim's grilling the great gulf shrimp and pleasant evenings together still gives me a warm feeling. He was a great cousin and really good guy - he will be missed.

“ Hi Lindsay - so sorry to hear about your dad, and right at the holidays, although there is really no good time to exit our lives here. He was way too young.

XOXO

“ James, Bruce when we were growing up, Frost was one of my best friends growing up in Jonesboro, Illinois. He moved to Jonesboro in the 6th grade. We rode mopeds, Cushman scooters all over town, without licenses. He purchased the local paper distribution service during high school. We would deliver the Sunday papers from the bed of my pickup with a mattress in the bed to land on when you came running from a house delivery. We were rear ended, in his 1951 Chevy, while making a delivery and ended upside down in a ditch but unharmed.

We lost track of each other during our post high school years and reconnected a number of years ago but were never able to meet, for that I am sorry. Bruce, you were a good friend and my older brother forgives us for getting him down and making him eat grass!

God Bless you Bruce, Carl (Bub) Wilkins
